Our Midwife Program

Midwives are specialists in pregnancy and giving birth with the role of looking after a woman and her baby during pregnancy. The main function of a midwife is to provide support and care to women during labor and delivery. Midwives can:

- Perform gynecological examinations
- Help with preconception planning
- Offer guidance about breastfeeding and other newborn care issues
- Provide antenatal care
- Assist during labor and delivery

PERI-OPERATIVE CLINIC

Reid Peri-Operative Clinic

Richmond • (765) 935-8914 • 1350 Chester Boulevard

The Reid Peri-Operative Clinic uses the latest medical research to help identify patients more at risk for complications and work to prevent most of the potential complications.

Reid Health is among a few leading systems in the nation that have created these specialized clinics to evaluate patients before surgery. Our clinic model is based on the latest science and best practices established at hospitals like the Cleveland Clinic and the Mayo Clinic.
